ONE OF THE PIONEERS

Harvey S. Firestone, one of the pioneers of the rubber industry, has died, leaving his vast enterprises to younger men.

Iver and over again in the obituaries of industrialists this phrase appears: One of the pioneers. Americans need to be reminded this still is a young country. Many of its greatest enterprises still are being operated by the founders.

When the founders die, though, the enterprises continue. Younger hands and heads, trained for responsibility, keep things running. Thousands of persons dependent on the industry suffer no ill effects. That is a mighty accomplishment—a bright aspect of industrial capitalism. It must make politicians, who can't bequeath even a promise with any assurance it will be fulfilled, feel a bit humble underneath the brass.

NO PERFECT SPECIMENS

The hunt for a perfect ambassador to Moscow continues. He must have money, oodles of it. He must be a Democrat whose eyes grow stary at mention of the new deal. He must be acceptable to the country at large and should have, if possible, a large personal following. He must have helped the party, too, and with something more precious than cheerful noises offstage.

He must be acceptable to the Soviets, and he must be willing to try to understand what they say they are trying to do. He must be smart enough to find his way about, but officially he must have no opinions worth bickering over. He must stick his nose into everything of importance, but must never get it pinched. Above all, he must be able to pretend he is as enthusiastic about what is going on in Russia as about what's going on in the United States.

When and if Mr. Roosevelt finds his ideal envoy, either the United States or Russia scarcely will be worth sending an ambassador to or from.

IT'S NOT SO BAD

The speech by Rep. Albert J. Engel in the house last week, containing the statement the national state and local debt, plus long term private debt, equals 99.4 percent of the assessed valuation of every place of real and personal property placed on assessment rolls by local assessing officers, is superficially disturbing.

However, remembering the wide difference between assessed value and actual value (except, of course, when the owner calls himself a liar because he thinks his taxes are too high) many Americans won't be disturbed at all. On the contrary, they think the information is reassuring.

It isn't as though the debt were all going to be paid at once, or even paid at all. On the contrary, it will be refinanced and shoved endlessly into the future for other generations to pass on to other generations. The Indians waiting for the country to be given back to them when everything in it is plastered with a first, second and third mortgage probably are the only real optimists left.

NOW WAIT A MINUTE

The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching has come out with another one of those let's-face-facts-frankly reports. This one's about the way colleges go after student prospects. A tuba player, it seems, has almost as good a chance as a halfback to receive "a little help."

The colleges, nevertheless, don't deserve the kicking around they are getting in this matter. Like graft in government, there are two sides to it. A jobholder can't become corrupt without assistance from shady private citizens willing to grease his palm; a college can't subsidize students who don't want to be subsidized.

Things have reached a stage where every kid who can turn a backward flip from a handstand, recite "Thanatopsis" or memorize the names of all the counties and county seats in his state expects to capitalize his special talent on the campus. Naturally, colleges, which always are on the hunt for likely looking prospects anyway, get into contact with these young promoters first. The young promoters make sure of that.

It may be a stupid way to pick students, but that's the worst thing you can say about it. Besides, who dares to say a kid with energy enough to play a tuba doesn't have more than an even chance of going far in this world?

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, February 10

Matters of most surprising and unexpected significance will be suddenly precipitated, according to the lunar and mutual aspects. A rather radical influence is at work; it may have a vital effect on the future. Strange adventures and persons may figure in this, with elements of the hidden and obscure all making for fulfillments of high ambitions of a possibly startling nature. In all, superiors or those in power may assist.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very important year, with many surprising and quite unforeseen matters suddenly culminating. These may involve change, travel, adventure or romance. Strange as well as secret influences may figure in this. It is a time for venturing forth daringly because the judgment is sound and ideas are constructive, even though novel or ingenious.

A child born on this day may have a versatile and probably peculiarly-talented mind. It may be sound in judgment but original, inventive, adventurous and romantic. Its genius will probably lead it to high and distant places in search of thrilling destiny. It may also be pleasure-loving and popular socially.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—No other American novel has been kicked around so vigorously as Theodore Dreiser's famous "Sister Carrie." Discovered by the late and talented Frank Norris when he was a reader in a Union Square publishing house, it came in as an "unsolicited manuscript."

He recommended its publication, but after it was in galley proofs some of the editorial board decided that the tale was strong meat and a letter was sent to Dreiser suggesting the publication be postponed a while until "business picked up."

Dreiser, however, insisted that the terms of the contract be carried out. He was informed that in that case the book would be brought out but not pushed. The first edition was only a slim 500 copies, after which the plates were broken up.

It might have died for all time had it not been brought out by a firm in England, where it was immediately acclaimed. It sells steadily today. The book has carried more publishers' imprints than any novel by a living contemporaneous writer. And deservedly.

At a dinner some years ago at the Bohemian club in San Francisco there were present Charles G. Norris, Henry L. Menchen, Samuel Hopkins Adams, Harry Leon Wilson, Stewart Edward White and Hugh Wiley. The discussion came around as to who should be given the palm of being America's outstanding living writer. The consensus was it was Dreiser. Europe, too, so regards him.

There are only one or two left of those romantic vagabonds of the mimeograph who gave such color to the theatre 20 years ago. They blazed a trail for the productions of Klaw and Erlanger, the Shuberts, Ziegfeld and others and their annual visits to the high grass were red letter events, especially in the editorial shops. All were fabulous fellows, fond of a good story, fragrant cigars and perhaps a rye or so neat. The list included such names as A. T. Worn, Frank Wilstach, Pop Rosenthal, Frank Matthews, Jake Rosenthal, Walter Duggan, Frank Kane, Jay Barnes, Dex Fellows and Ryley Cooper.

Ludwig, the smiling, happy crippled newsboy in his high chair at the Saks corner on 34th street, has brushed with adventure. One windy day a lace handkerchief fell in his lap, blown from who knows where! It was so sweetly perfumed Ludwig says he'll return it—assessed by a neighboring sales girl as worth at least $8—if the owner will give him just a tiny vial of the ravishing perfume, now almost sniffed away.

To many the subway excavations on Sixth avenue are caverns of civic horror. They are assailed by the clowns of the revues and the night clubs and targets for paragraphic pokes. Yet to me they are a constant delight. Such fascinating glimpses down in the shady bowels of the earth. Such maddening complications of tubes, twisting in an elaborate meshwork, electric conduits, rusty gas pipes and the bigger entrails of huge sewer pipes and water mains. The acetylene torch shooting blue white fire. The pyrotechnic display of sparks, the refractory steel dripping in red drops to a puddle, the boarding catching fire!

The excavation men like their work and glance at those peering down pityingly. Last night I watched a man nailing down the top layer of planks. He stuck in a dozen long wire nails like pins in a pin cushion and then, with the accuracy of Bobby Jones, drove them in one by one, with rhythmic blows. Then the almost human motor shovel, biting out huge gobs of earth and swinging it into the truck. There is a feeling here are men who do something really useful to everybody—men who are not merely matching pet words into something that is bound to die tomorrow in the manner of columnists.

Gelett Burgess has started a growing campaign against what he calls Zozobis—those who stop to gossip in the middle of a busy sidewalk. The trick of destroyers is to crash into them heavily with an abject "Pardon, so sorry." Burgess is also an anarchist who likes to steal a smoke on the hind quarters of a bus to see how long before the chauffeur catches him in his tell-tale mirror.

CCC Proves Economic and Moral Boon to Boys

Continuation of Civilian Conservation Corps activities until 1940 is assured by congressional appropriations, which extends an emergency measure that now is regarded as one of the most popular and permanent units of the New Deal. In force since 1935, the corps has done much to combat the ill of idleness among young men in depression-ridden cities. Some 2,000,000 have been members of the CCC since its inauguration, and not only have they carried out a vast program of conservation, but have benefited greatly themselves by the social and psychological work of the corps. Statistics show that more than $400,000,000 has been sent from members' monthly pay checks to an estimated 6,000,000 dependents since the corps' inauguration five years ago.

EYE CHECK-UP

No one questions the importance of normal, healthy eyes; but, unfortunately, not all of us possess them. Many children are born with defective vision. Unless the defect is corrected during early childhood, it will be carried through life and probably grow worse with the years.

The child should be given expert attention if there is any suspicion of eye weakness or deformity. Too many mothers assume that their disabilities are temporary and will be outgrown in time. In reality, the weakness is likely to become more marked.

As a rule, the first indication that something is wrong with the eyes is found in the child's difficulty in reading or studying a picture. If a child holds objects close to the eyes, or he screws up his face when looking at a picture-book, you must suspect poor vision.

Some children have defective eyes but give no outward signs of the strain. Though they may be able to see well, they may do so at the expense of serious strain on the eye muscles.

One in 12 Defective
No doubt you will be amazed to learn that about one-eighth of all school children have defective eyes. In other words, one child out of every 12 needs some form of eye treatment or glasses.

A child may be the victim of near sightedness, farsightedness, cross-eye or some other visual defect.

Such a child is likely to be backward in school work. The youngster may be cross and easily irritated. He may have headache and be sick at his stomach.

It is amazing to observe the improvement in the general well being after glasses are prescribed. The physical health is improved. There is marked improvement in the school work.

I am often asked about cross-eye. In many cases this condition can be corrected by glasses. In others a simple operation on the muscles of the eye is necessary. This operation corrects the eye balance and returns the wandering eye to the proper position. The defect should be attended to before the child is six years old. Indeed, the earlier this attention is obtained the better the prospect of complete success.

Do not neglect the eyes. Like the child, the adult should have the benefit of eye care. But if attention is given during childhood, many disorders and complaints of the eyes in adult life will be prevented.

"Women In Love" by May Christie

SYNOPSIS

The loss of the family fortune did not phase Ann DeLaford, just nineteen and the youngest of three daughters. Now that her banker father had failed and was only returning $50 a week in the reorganized company, she was not going to let it bother her, but would get a position. Her sisters, Bernice and Claire, twenty-one and twenty-two, respectively, just laughed. And Mother DeLaford always got a convenient heart attack when anything went wrong. Freddy Brant, an irresponsible artist and Bernice's heart-throb, arrives with news of the opening of a new supper-club called "The Laughing Pig." "Get me a job there," Bernice pleaded. "Couldn't I be a barmaid or something?"

CHAPTER II

Ann was about to intervene, when Freddy's fifth cocktail germinated a bright idea for Bernice. "You could be a cocktail waitress, that's what you could be! The dago who runs the place is all out for Society with a capital S—he's bursting his brains to lure 'em in, but it's a tough job, these days. Competition, y'know. He needs someone to the manner born. A come-hither!"

"A what?" incredulously, from Ann. "I say—Freddy waved his glass at me," Bernice said. "He swung round on Ann. 'The gal has looks, breeding, blue blood, and the Social Register—demmit!—is an old song to her. Isn't that so?' He flung a plump arm round Bernice and hugged her. 'Lorelei!'"

"You mean—I'd get a salary?" "Sure you would. Fifty dollars a week. I'd ask you—hours the cocktail hours of five to seven. Don't dare so, Ann! Wha—whash wrong with Bernice earning an honest living?"

"What would her duties be?" Ann snapped. "To scare up her pals, of course. Drag 'em in by the hair—"

"Pigs' bristles," Claire corrected. "And dance with 'em and jolly 'em along, if they are men—"

by Anne Adams

Bernice called over her shoulder: "You bet I'm going to accept that divine job of cocktail waitress, you old spoil-sport."

"And drink with them and get them to spend their money," Ann flashed indignantly.

"Why not? Isn't this 1936? It's a swell new idea." In the dives of South America and—mining camps—gasped Ann.

"It's darned new on Park avenue. Lovely Society girl turns cocktail-hostess at 'The Laughing Pig'—"

"Among the swine," Claire finished, and she turned to Ann. "For the love of Mike, don't be so prim. I was only kidding. I think it's a swell chance for Bernice to strut her stuff. Her stock-in-trade is her looks. Maybe—who knows?—she'll pick up a rich husband." She gave Freddy a swift glance as though to say: "That lets you out." To Ann she added: "Weren't you just ranting about the importance of us making or getting money?"

Captain de Freyn walked in. He was a thin, youngish man, immaculately dressed, with a small head topped a long body. His small and sallow face was lit by a pair of near-set eyes that were curiously bright. A tooth-brush mustache adorned his upper lip.

"Come, come! What's this about money?" he asked arrogantly. "The root of all evil. You should know," Claire flipped her glass, raising her eyes in a slow smile, then letting the lids droop, so that he might get the benefit of her incredibly long lashes.

She made a place on the sofa so that he might sit by her. They were great friends. More than friends. Contract-bridge partners. Looking at them, Ann felt a vague unease. She poured herself a fresh cocktail. She had nothing definite against Captain de Freyn—except instinct.

Wasn't he persona grata up and down Park avenue, and especially among card-mad women? But it was Claire who had introduced him and vouched for him—that, and his ability at contract.

"Amazing," thought Ann, "how sane people can shut themselves up for the better part of twenty-four hours on a stretch, for a pack of cards!"

But it wasn't love of the game alone, she knew, it was the craze for getting each other's money—the lure of gambling and the hope of winning. It even seemed to change the nicest people's character. Hadn't she seen women who were perfectly normal, ordinarily, fairly leap at each other's throats over the bridge-table?

This mania for cards seven days of the week was responsible for shoals of Society divorces. It did something to one's brains, turning them to cottonwool when away from the game, so that one had nothing left to offer or hold a husband. She was afraid for Claire—Claire's future—Claire's chances of happiness.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts
The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or sleep poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bellars for indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one Bellars proves it. Ask for Bellars for indigestion.

No One Ever Kissed Her Good Night

Bad breath is death to romance. And bad breath is frequently caused by constipation. Just as headaches, sleeplessness, weakness can be produced by it, or most skin blemishes aggravated by it!
Dr. F. M. Edwards, during his years of practice, treated hundreds of women for constipation and frequently noted that relief sweetened the breath and improved well-being and vitality. For his treatment he used a purely vegetable compound—Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. This laxative is gentle, yet peculiarly effective because it increases the bile flow without shocking the intestinal system.
Help guard against constipation. Use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. At all druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning! Run! To Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Sublimely refuse anything else.

French Plane Hits Breakwater; 8 Dead

MARSEILLE, France, Feb. 9.—Eight persons were killed and six injured early this morning in the crash of a flying boat against the Marseille breakwater at the moment of take-off.

The trans-Mediterranean airliner was starting her scheduled flight to Ajaccio, Corsica, on the Marseille-Tunis run. She hurtled against the breakwater at a 60-mile an hour speed and burst into flames.

Air France announced the dead were five passengers and three of the crew. Four passengers and two of the crew were injured. All the dead were French, including Chief Pilot Pierre Burello, veteran flier who was at the controls.

The six injured were taken from the water by rescue craft after the plane sank. Three of the bodies were recovered.

Officials thought Burello probably failed to see the breakwater through morning fog and mist. The crash was at 7:30 a. m. (2:30 A. M. E. S. T.)

The four-motored ship was the first lost by Air France in more than two years, company officials said. Four passengers died in the last grave accident at Corsica in January, 1936.

Theater Attractions

Luli Deste, John Boles and Frances Drake in a scene from "She Married an Artist" at the State on a double bill tonight and Thursday.

Double bills are featured tonight and Thursday at both theaters. The Grand's lists "City Girl" featuring Phyllis Brooks and Ricardo Cortez, and "Sergeant Murphy" with Ronald Reagan and Mary Maguire.

Among cavaliers the world over there's a legend—or maybe it's a true story—about a service horse that was branded "I. C." (inspected and condemned), turned out of the troop, trained by its veteran mount, then made into a steeplechase racer that goes on to win the Grand National in England.

Theme For Story That legend provides a theme for "Sergeant Murphy."

The story concerns a cavalry horse that failed to pass an inspection for fitness of any army post, yet under the training of his cavalryman master was developed into a great steeplechase racer that goes on to win the Grand National jumping race in England.

Young Reagan plays the part of the soldier who loved his horse so well that he bought and trained him after both left the army. Reagan is a recent "discovery" of Warner Bros. He was a sports broadcaster for a Des Moines newspaper when scouts discovered him last spring reporting baseball training.

This is Mary Maguire's fourth picture, the most recent of the others being with Kay Francis in "Confession." She plays the part of a Colonel's daughter at an army post. Donald Crisp plays her father.

Good Role For Miss Brooks "City Girl" gives young actress Phyllis Brooks a better role than she has had to date. Miss Brooks is seen as a girl who lives two lives—fleeing the city to escape the law and returning so changed that the police and even her own sweetheart could not recognize her.

Ricardo Cortez is the big shot racketeer for whose love she lived two lives. He has given up his girl friend, he has put his wife on the spot in another big town while a fearless prosecutor warns, "We'll bust up every racket in this city!"

The city's new racket buster blows the town wide open, but this girl sets off the dynamite. From a job in a restaurant she was coaxed into a party of mobsters who toured the suburban night spots. When a gas station attendant foiled a stick-up by squirting gasoline in the bandit's faces her purse was left behind. Police quizzed her but she wouldn't "sing."

Fingerprints Found Soon after the big boss' ex-girl was found dead, with Phyllis' fingerprints on the gun, and Miss Brooks is accused of the crime.

At the State tonight and tomorrow are: "She's Got Everything" with Ann Sothern, Gene Raymond, Helen Broderick and Victor Moore; and "She Married an Artist" with Luli Deste, John Boles and Frances Drake.

STUBENVILLE, Feb. 9.—Eugene Boyd, service-safety director, who took office a week ago, has put a crimp in night life here.

He has ordered strict compliance with night club closing hours and has instructed police to question everyone found on the street after 1 a. m.

He also has ordered police to "shoot to kill" in dealing with suspected criminals, declaring Steubenville "is not going to fool with 10-cent punks driven out of other cities in crime crusades."

Burn Mortgage

Male Carelessness In Dress Deplored By Custom Tailors

CINCINNATI, Feb. 9.—Custom tailors, meeting here to decide what the well-dressed man should wear next year, deplored today the lack of clothes-consciousness in males.
"Something for every occasion,"
was the slogan and Benjamin Friedman, member of the executive committee of the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America, asked:
"If women do it, why not men?"
"Four or five tuxedos and full dress suits of different colors," suggested Friedman, "and enough business and sports clothes for the season and special demands."
"Just because you're dressed in color doesn't mean that you're a race track tout or a heavy gambler," said Friedman. "If you know how,
you can look as dignified as you please."
President Raymond G. Twyeffort
of the association stifled another objection:
"Colors effeminate? Don't be ridiculous. Tough guys wear colors.
Look at the knights, the pirates,
the lumberjacks and the Canadian mounties."

Special Services Prove Successful

The special anniversary series of services being conducted by Evangelist B. E. Hillman at the Light-house Tabernacle, W. State st., are meeting with good success and interest, the pastor, Rev. M. R.
Searles, said today.
The attendance has been the largest to crowd the tabernacle. It has been necessary to open the whole main floor of the building to one large auditorium and obtain extra seats to accommodate the crowd.
A special program of music and song is being furnished nightly.
The assistance of neighboring churches is being greatly enjoyed.
Those expected to take part in the program of music and song

Contact With Pole Campers Is Broken

MOSCOW, Feb. 9.—A magnetic storm today interrupted radio contact between the outside world and the four Soviet "North Pole" campers, whose perilous perch on a drifting ice cake was in danger of being crushed by pack ice off
the east coast of Greenland.
Three Russian ice-breakers, struggling through heavy seas and the Arctic darkness to reach the scientists, with the nearest still several days away, said the magnetic storm probably would continue several days.
The fourth ice-breaker assigned to the far-flung rescue effort, the Yermak, had steam up to start from Kronstadt, on the gulf of Finland.
The ships nearest the camp said
the recent Arctic gale had abated.
It had impeded their progress toward the floe on which the scientists have drifted about 1,100 miles from the North Pole in eight months of study.

Suspect In Slaying Of Farmer Sought

MARIETTA, Feb. 9.—Sheriff Arthur D. Mackey said today that he would file murder charges against a neighbor of Andrew H.
Adams, 57-year-old farmer living 15 miles west of here, who died yesterday a few minutes after being shot three times.
Meanwhile, a posse of deputies and rural residents, backed by state highway patrolmen and officers in nearby towns, spread a net over the district in an effort to capture the slayer suspect.
The shooting occurred, Sheriff Mackey declared, in a garage at the home of Jasper Chutes, another farmer residing near Adams.
The sheriff said Jasper's brother, Henry, informed him that he heard the shots and saw Adams throw an ax at his assistant before collapsing
from his mortal wounds.
Adams' widow told Mackey that her husband owed the slaying suspect back rent for a stable and that the shooting might have resulted from a quarrel over the debt.

French Arms Plan Is Revised Upward

PARIS, Feb. 9.—France's already vast armaments budget has been revised to provide for 1,000 new fighting planes this year, strengthened French-African naval bases, and the start of a military highway across Algeria to Italian Libya's frontier, sources close to the fighting services said today.
Defense Minister Edouard Daladier
will ask a 20 per cent increase in 1938 armaments spending, these sources said.
Such an increase would be about $133,330,000 above the approximately $733,000,000 already approved by parliament.
Purchase of 1,000 fighting planes
would assure France 3,400 first line ships by the end of 1938 and 4,000
by the end of 1939 under present plans.
French military experts declare Italy had 2,100 ships at the beginning of 1938 and that Germany had 2,600 first line craft.

U. S. WILL BUY DUST BOWL LAND

Half of Total Is Already Acquired Under Act to Aid Farmers

(United Press)
WASHINGTON.—The government, which gave away millions of acres to homesteaders in the Great Plains, has begun buying back the land in an effort to save the "dust bowl" from becoming a virtual desert.
More than 5,000,000 acres already have been purchased and an expanded program under the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act
calls for the buying of another 5,000,000 during the next two years.
"Black blizzards"—dust storms—
on the southwestern great plains
caused the Department of Agriculture to rush its program for anchoring the soil and checking wind erosion over a wide area.
General Staff Organized Department soil experts have been organized into a general staff to direct the most ambitious land-use program ever undertaken by the government. Dr. L. C. Gray, assistant chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, heads the land-use coordinating committee.
Congress last year authorized appropriations of $50,000,000 over a three-year period ending in 1940
for purchase of sub-marginal land and to "develop a program of land conservation and land utilization"
in the Great Plains.
Field agents have been sent into the "dust bowl" to buy options on 2,000,000 acres before June 30. This would obligate the $10,000,000 made available by congress for carrying out the program in the 1938 fiscal year.
Land already ruined for farming purposes will be purchased in nine states. The government uses this land as demonstration areas to show private land owners how to control wind erosion. Private owners of 100,000,000 or more acres are expected to cooperate.
List of Selected Counties
States and counties already selected for government land conservation projects are: Colorado—
Weld, Baca, Las Animas and Logan counties; Montana—Custer, Fallon
and Yellowstone counties; Texas—
Hampshire and Randall counties;
Wyoming—Campbell, Converse, Ni-
obrara, Crook and Weston counties;
North Dakota—Slope and Golden Valley counties; South Dakota—
Perkins and Corson; Kansas—Morton county, and a tri-state area including adjacent counties in New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma.
"Land will not be purchased haphazardly," Gray said. "Given areas will be studied in cooperation with appropriate state and local agencies. Each purchase project will be selected so as to permit the efficient use and administration of the land purchased, to contribute to an improvement in economy of the entire area, and to prevent waste or misuse of land.
"The land acquired will generally be land employed in agriculture and which is occupied at the time of purchase," he said. "But occasionally some intervening or adjoining unoccupied land, or land not then being used for agriculture, may be bought to facilitate the efficient operation and conservation of an area as a whole."
The land retired from cultivation will be used for forest, recreational land, wildlife refuges, controlled range and other purposes for which it is best suited and which will promote the general welfare, Gray said.

A lifelong Democrat, Alfred Evan Reames, 68, of Medford, becomes Oregon's first Democratic senator
in many years. Gov. Charles H.
Martin appointed Reames, one of the state's leading attorneys, to succeed to the seat vacated by Frederick C. Steiwer, Republican.
He will serve only till the November election. Governor Martin is known for his attacks on the National Labor Relations Board.

Await Report From County Detective

LISBON, Feb. 9.—County authorities today were awaiting a report from George Curran, special investigator for the prosecutor's office, which may produce new evidence in the gang killing of Roy Marino, near here, last summer.
Curran went to Columbus last Sunday to question bandits held there following a fatal gun-fight.
He took with him bullets removed from Marino's riddled body for comparison with slugs fired from the bandits' guns.
A telegram received Tuesday by Prosecutor Karl Stouffer stated the detective would complete his investigation at noon today, returning this evening. Curran spent yesterday and today in Cleveland, where he conferred with police officials.
Marino, said to be a Youngstown racketeer, was slain near Rogers.
Authorities believe he was killed by gangsters.

Autopsy Is Planned In Death of Woman

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Although police have listed the death of Mrs.
Harriet Brown Nielsen, former Pacific coast diving beauty, as homicide, an autopsy was planned today to determine the cause of death.
William King, 45-year-old WPA musician, charged with homicide, told detectives who questioned him
after he reported the death yesterday that Mrs. Nielsen fell several times during the night.
Assistant Medical Examiner Raymond Miles, who ordered the autopsy, said, pending investigation, that death might have been the result of a fall.
King and Mrs. Nielsen, said detectives, were companions on a drinking party in a rooming house the night before her death. The musician was held after he admitted, as quoted by police, that he had slapped Mrs. Nielsen when she struck him with an empty bottle.

Counties of Ulster Join With Ireland

(By Associated Press)
BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Feb.
9.—The six Protestant-ruled counties of Ulster, North Ireland, voted today on uniting with Ireland and what to do about unemployment.
For Prime Minister Viscount Craigavon, the general election was the severest test of his 17-year political career and he asked a vote of confidence on his opposition to uniting the two lands.
But, including Craigavon's unionists, four of the five contesting parties opposed union, and it was on the issue of employment relief that the real test of strength seemed likely.
There were 64 candidates for 31
contested seats in parliament.
The opposition blamed Craig-avon's administration for unemployment and hoped on that plank to reduce the government majority,
perhaps to turn out the unionists
altogether.
Northern Ireland generally has opposed any union with Ireland, formerly the Irish Free State and governing as a republic.
Ireland's Prime Minister Eamon
De Valera long has advocated joining Ireland, and sought without apparent success to make the question a point in recent London talks with British officials which dealt primarily with trade and defense questions.

RUMOR CAPONE MENTALLY ILL

Chicago Gangster May Be Taken From Alcatraz,
Reports Say

(By Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—Reports were current today that Al Capone, under observation in the hospital ward at Alcatraz island federal prison, might be transferred to the federal hospital for insane
criminals at Springfield, Mo.
The rumor persisted that the Chicago gangster, serving time for income tax law violation, was suffering from paresis, a condition which brings about destruction of the brain cells.
Dr. Edward Twitchell, consulting psychiatrist for Alcatraz, observed:
"Whether Capone has paresis or anybody else has it, it now is a curable condition. Malarial treatment in favorable cases results in pretty rapid response."
Warden James A. Johnston refused to discuss the case other than to observe that no orders for a transfer to Springfield had been received.
Received at the federal prison
Aug. 22, 1934, Capone was put in solitary confinement 10 months later after a fist fight. In June, 1936, he was wounded in the back by a convict who attacked him with scissors.

It Wasn't Feb. 22, and Tree Was Maple; Still, It Came Down

LISBON, Feb. 9.—If it had only occurred on Washington's birthday
and if the tree had been cherry instead of maple, the story would have had unlimited possibilities.
But it happened Tuesday afternoon and the tree was definitely not the type preferred by the first president in his younger days. So the story is more or less the victim of circumstances above and beyond its control.
A large truck carrying a power
shovel lumbered along North Market st. here yesterday afternoon.
Reaching a point near the county jail, the driver was troubled when his machine suddenly lost speed, and balled when a 15-foot maple tree bordering the street toppled and fell—roots up.
A quick examination revealed the reason. A supporting guy wire stretched across the street had been fouled by the top of the shovel.
Water soaked earth proved too soft to sustain the sudden pull, and over went the tree.
Village authorities had stretched the wire well above the range of run-of-the-street traffic. But the shovel loomed just a little too high,
so that, abnormally speaking, the village is one tree less.

Warren Stages Rally In Second Half To Whip Quaker Cagers

That lefty limb on which Salem High school's Quakers have perched since upsetting Massillon's mighty Tigers was cut down last night, and, as it toppled, midst the roar of discontented fans, so fell the Quakers.

The Presidents of Warren Harding High school neatly sawed off the limb by handing the Quakers their third defeat of the 1937-38 basketball season to the tune of a 34 to 29 score.

In losing the contest, the Quakers turned in their poorest performance to date. But their showing was not half as discouraging as that of many fans, who gave a splendid exhibition of unsportsmanlike conduct by issuing loud choruses of "boos" throughout the game.

The conduct of the crowd was the worst of the season. Fools called against Salem were greeted with lengthy "boos" while catcalls, jeers and shrill whistles were unleashed, on Warren players when they were attempting to shoot free throws.

The fouls called against Warren, however, were received with applause and silence reigned while Salem players took their free shots.

The Presidents first earned their victory, the first they have gained over Salem since the 1931-32 season.

Trailing by four points at half-time, Warren began moving up midway in the third quarter, gaining the lead at the close of this period and then remaining out in front throughout the final frame.

The Presidents were behind, 20 to 13, mid-way through the third period when they started hitting the hoop. They passed the Quakers just before the third quarter ended, taking the lead, 24 to 22.

Continuing to click in the final period, Warren outscored Salem 10 points to seven to win going away. At one time in the last frame, the Presidents held an eight-point lead, 32 to 24.

The Quakers held the lead during the first and second quarters. Both teams played poorly in the first two frames, missing numerous shots and handling the ball like it was a hot poker.

The Presidents were way off form in the first stanza and, although driving many shots at the basket, they failed to score. Salem chalked up five points in the opening frame while Warren was going scoreless.

The Quakers were outscored eight points to seven in the second period, but continued to hold the lead. The halftime score was 12 to 8, with Salem on top.

Warren's rally in the third and fourth frames, in which they scored 26 points to the Quakers' 17, was sparked by Totterdale, who found his mark from the side court to net four highly important field goals.

Smith also aided greatly in Warren's comeback, making three field goals on neat one-handed shots from near the basket.

Totterdale led the Warren scoring with 13 points made on five field goals and three free throws. Smith tallied eight points.

Poor ball-handling and inaccurate pass work and shooting contributed largely to the Quakers' defeat. The Red and Black lads were unable to hang on to the leather and passed wildly on numerous occasions.

During the first and second quarters the game was slowed up considerably by sloppy ball-handling. Rough play brought on some of the fumbling, but the majority of the errors were directly responsible to the ball-handlers.

As in several past games, the Quakers were "tied up" in their mid-court offensive play when the going became tough. Warren employed a zone defense and moved its front line out to meet the Salem ball handlers, but the Quakers failed to take advantage of Warren spreading its zone wide open.

As a result, the Presidents either forced a jump ball or gained possession of the leather by breaking up the Salem pass work.

Offie Olea again topped Salem scoring, collecting 13 points on five field goals and three free shots. Two of Olea's field goals were made from long range, although the Quakers, as a whole, were not hitting on their shots from mid-court.

The Quakers will return to action Friday night, meeting East Liverpool on the local court.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Dr. Walter L. Lingie, president of Davidson college, which doesn't beat the bushes for football talent, says: "There is a lot of difference between a group of students which incidentally plays football and a group of football players which incidentally goes to college."

Cam Henderson of Marshall college in West Virginia who took out a $10,000 life insurance policy on "Jumping Jackie" Hunt, the Huntington High school sensation. P. S. Hunt enrolled at Marshall two days later after turning down offers from 15 other schools. Petey Kane, the British middleweight, is a blacksmith and does all his training at the old forge, which, in all probability, is located under one of those well known spreading chestnut trees.

Michigan once had a "point-a-minute" football team and now U. of Detroit, a few miles away, comes up with a "point-a-minute" basketball quint.

Roanoke college, at Salem, Va., with a student body of 300, has one of the best cage teams in the south this season.

Tragedy: This line appeared in the last Baseball Bulletin: "Released by Cleveland—Hugh Alexander." Alexander is the promising young outfielder who played a few games with the Tribe last fall and looked great.

A few weeks after the season ended he lost his left hand in an industrial accident.

GALENTO WON'T TRAIN IN CAMP

2-Ton Tony Has No Use For Those Dude Training Quarters

ORANGE, N. J., Feb. 9.—Two-ton Tony Galeto made a wry face today as he washed down a six-course breakfast with a quart of milk, and his mouthpiece vowed the Jersey water buffalo would never go to one of those dude training camps—not even if it meant calling off his fight with Harry Thomas at Madison Square Garden.

Tony tried to appease his New York Boxing commission critics by switching from beer to milk but he has his own ideas of how to train and can't see the sense of changing.

"Baloney," said Trainer Jimmy Frain to Promoter Max Jacobs, order that Tony start training—not later than today—at Madame Bey's camp at Summit or forfeit the chance to brawl with Thomas at the Garden come a week Friday.

"Tony's been training this way for 11 years and he ain't had no trouble yet. We've been training for this fight for 13, maybe 14, days. We ain't going to stop now and we ain't going to change. No generals in New York can tell us how to train," Frain declared.

HEAVY FIRING TO START FOR CITY BOWLERS

Annual Tenpin Tourney Gets In Full Swing Tonight

Heavy firing in city's annual handicap bowling tournament gets under way at the Grate Recreation alleys tonight as 12 teams take to the hardwood lanes for cracks at prize money in the five-man event.

The tournament official opened at the Grate lanes last night when two teams competed in the five-man event but the opening shots served only as a preliminary to the biggest bowling event in local history.

Thirty-six teams will make their bids for a share of the prize money tonight, tomorrow and Friday. Two shifts of six teams each will be in action each night, the first shift starting at 7 and the last one at 9.

When the five-man competition ends Friday night, 38 teams, four more than competed last year, will have posted scores.

The doubles and singles events will get under way next Monday and will continue nightly until Saturday. Seventy teams will bowl in the doubles and 123 entrants will try their luck in the singles.

Scratch for the tournament is 190 and only one bowler, Jess Hays of the Salem News Class A team, will compete without a handicap.

Hays boasts an average of about 196 in the National league. Bowlers are limited to handicaps of 45 pins a game.

Teams scheduled to bowl in the tourney tonight are the Electric Furnace of the American League, Berg Bretzels, Salem News "B", Mullins Manufacturers, Electric Furnace Panthers, National Sanitary Office, Economy V-8's, Mullins Foremen "A", Ohio Bell Telephone, Zimmerman Oldsmobiles and Ferning's Colts.

The teams which opened the tourney last night were the Natural Gas Co. of the Federal league and the East End of the Quaker City league.

Given a 459-pin handicap, the Gas Co. turned in a 2755 score which may land in the money. Three games over 900 boosted to Gas Housers to their pace-setting mark.

The East End failed to turn in a possible money-winning score, despite a 594-pin handicap. The team's score was 2528.

Gehrig's Holdout Attempt Taken Lightly By Ruppert

Colonel Knows That You Can't Keep "Iron Horse" Off First Base When Season Opens

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Lou Gehrig is planted on his front porch up at New Rochelle, swearing at all that's Hollywood that he won't sign with the Yankees for a cent less than $41,400—but you know that he will, eventually.

Unfortunately for Lou's financial dream, even Col. Jake Ruppert, his boss, knows you couldn't keep the "iron horse" off first base with a restraining order once the Yankees start after their third straight world championship.

For Lou, who will be 35 next June, loves to play baseball, and he still can play it better than almost anybody, including his illustrious young teammate, Joe Dimaggio. Also he still has ahead a few of those $36,000 seasons like Colonel Ruppert offered him as a renewal of his 1937 contract.

He said, after butting heads with Ruppert yesterday, that he wouldn't even go to Florida next month unless the colonel came through, but nobody believed him.

"This guy has played 1,965 straight games up to now," said some one aside "and I'd like to see anybody keep him from making it 2,000 without using a gun."

It's difficult to realize he's been around the big time for 13 seasons and has seen nearly a whole generation of players come and go, yet Lou has shown no sign of slowing up.

Baseball seems most men's faces, the sun squinting their eyes and tanning their cheeks like shoe-leather, but nothing seems to happen to Lou. He still looks like a college hero and he said yesterday his legs felt as springy as ever. He has done a lot of right living, going to bed at night and socking his money in the bank. He must have around $200,000 stored away, maybe more.

LUTHERANS AND SCOTS TIED IN LEAGUE BATTLE

Wittenberg and Wooster Have Each Won Six Loop Games

(By Associated Press)
Wittenberg and Wooster were tied today at the peak of the Ohio conference basketball heap with six circuit victories apiece and no setbacks.

The Lutherans surged over Heidelberg university last night, 57 to 27. The Scots were idle, Grabbing an early lead, Wittenberg coasted to victory. They held a half-time edge of 17-14.

The victory was the ninth in a row for the speedy Lutheran quintet, including non-conference engagements. It was Heidelberg's fifth loss in nine conference tilts.

Findlay trounced Capital 50 to 47 in a close encounter. The Findlay cagers held a 24-23 half-time edge.

The Columbus machine rolled up a six-point lead early in the second half, but Findlay knotted the score at 30-30. Forward Paul Weaver of Capital took individual scoring honors with 18 points.

In the Buckeye loop, Ohio's university's Bobcats drubbed Dayton 46 to 38 for Ohio's fourth conference win against one loss. Marshall, leading with four victories and no defeats, crushed Kentucky Wesleyan in an inter-sectional contest 77 to 26.

Mount Union, fourth in the Ohio circuit standings, battled all the way to wrest a 35 to 24 victory from Otterbein. It was the thirteenth win in fifteen starts for the Mounts and their ninth conference triumph against a pair of defeats.

Bowling Green took a 49 to 43 set-to from Ohio Northern's oft-defeated Polar Bears. The intermission score was 25-10 in Bowling Green's favor.

Kent State university breezed to a 53 to 31 victory over Hiram. Roy Pinyoun accounted for 17 of the Staters' points. Ohio Wesleyan bagged 60 points to Oberlin's 42 in a non-conference game. The Bishops led at half-time, 29 to 19.

PHILAN ORDERS PROBE OF BOUT

N. Y. Commission to Investigate Steele's Win Over Turner

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 9.—Brig. Gen. John H. Phelan, chairman of the New York State Athletic commission, promised today an investigation of Middleweight Champion Freddie Steele's first round knockout of Bob Turner last night.

Steele downed the Newport News, Va., fighter four times in winning the battle in two minutes and 17 seconds of the first round. It had been scheduled as a 10-round over-weight match. Steele weighed 168 and Turner 162, two pounds over the middleweight limit.

Phelan, who saw the bout, said he had ordered Turner's purse withheld and that the commission would start an immediate investigation.

A crowd of 2,500 persons started booing when Turner hit the canvas the first time and kept up the din for almost 15 minutes, preventing the announcer from introducing the principals of the semi-final, which followed the main event.

In his dressing room, Turner, who recently defeated Carmen Barth, said Steele's first right-hand punch dazed him.

West Still Turns Out Top Shooters

DAYTON, Feb. 9.—The west still produces straight shooting marksmen.

Figures released today by the Amateur Trapshooting association disclosed that six of the first eight gunners in the junior list are from the far side of the Mississippi river.

Stanley Meadows, 17-year-old Des Moines, Ia., sharpshooter, heading the aggregation.

Meadows, winner of the national Junior and national Class A titles in the Grand American trapshoot at nearby Vandalia last August, broke 1,793 out of 1,850 registered targets for an average of 9891.

Otto Kiehl of Pittsburg, Kan., broke 1,432 out of 1,500 for a 9546 average to take second place.

Dean Wants To Talk Peace With Owners

BRADENTON, Fla., Feb. 9.—Dizay Dean said today that he was anxious to talk peace with the St. Louis Cardinals—to the tune of a $20,000 contract, a $5,500 reduction from the salary the hurler said he received in 1937, and just $10,000 more than the Cards are reported to have offered.

Dean said he had not heard from the Cards since Jan. 14, when he returned unsigned their first contract but he expressed hope that terms could be reached without delay "because I'm anxious to go into training on the first day and get ready for a return to form."

Simon-Pure Boxing Program To Feature Battle Between Don West And Enoch Henry

Bill Hamacher of Salem, To Square Off Against Kid Frecona of Alliance, In Main Go of Jimmy Perry's Amateur Ring Card

Amateur boxing, the type that brings together fighters who mix-it-up for love of the game and the sheer fun of winning, makes it's 1938 debut in Salem tonight with eight bouts at the Memorial building.

The simon-pure card, sponsored by Jimmy Perry, local athletic club director, will get under way at 8:30. Two 100-pound lads, Tommy Mansly of Rogers and Bobby Mansfield of East Palestine will battle-it-out in the curtain raiser.

The show is the first to be held in Salem in several years and also the inaugural one for Perry, who will send his boys into action in six of the eight battles.

Heading the card, although listed as the semi-final, will be a bout between Salem's up and coming young slugger, Don West, 133-pound high school freshman, and Enoch Henry, the pride of East Palestine, amateur battlers.

Henry is expected to provide an exceptionally stiff test for the Salem youth, who has gone undefeated in three fights to date, winning two of his engagements by K. O.'s. West's most recent victim was Don Jones of East Palestine, who took the count in the first round.

JAPAN REFUSES FACTS ON NAVY

Will Turn Down U. S. France and Britain in Note to Be Issued Probably Friday

(By Associated Press)
TOKYO, Feb. 9 — Authoritative sources said today Japan would refuse to give naval information asked by the United States, Great Britain and France in a reply to be handed to the ambassadors of those countries, probably Friday.

Along with the reply, which was being drafted by navy and foreign office authorities, the government was expected to make a "clarifying statement" on the naval problem. Tatsuo Kawai, a foreign office spokesman, said today in a statement of personal opinion that Japan fails to see the need of American naval expansion if the United States "lacks the intention to quarantine or police foreign waters."

The official government statement was the subject of conferences between Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye and Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, Naval minister. Cabinet approval was expected tomorrow.

The United States, Britain and France had asked in formal notes that Japan inform them by Feb. 20 of any plans to build battleships exceeding the 35,000-ton limit set by the 1936 naval treaty among the three powers.

Failure of Japan to give assurances she would adhere to the treaty she refused to sign, the notes said, would force the powers to invoke clauses permitting them to compete with any other nation.

Tells About Dogs

His experiences in breeding and training dogs were told by Eldon Groves in an interesting talk before the Rotary club Tuesday noon at the Memorial building. Miami Bar Looted; Report $50,000 Taken MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 9.—Three bandits held up the Arena bar on Biscayne boulevard this morning, rifled a bank of private safe deposit boxes and escaped with cash and jewelry unofficially estimated at $50,000 to $100,000.

The robbers walked in while the shifts were changing in the all-night resort, herded eight employees and one customer upstairs and made them lie on the floor where they covered them with coats and tablecloths.

With crowbars the men pried open some 20 safe deposit boxes where the owners and a number of friends and customers kept their valuables.

Beggar's Hoard

Michael Kac, 50, was arrested while seeking food in a door-to-door apartment house canvass in New York City. A search of his room revealed $3,437 in cash and bank accounts totaling $800. He is pictured above with some of the money. Police are holding him for investigation.

call for the special session. Uible named Representatives W. H. Whetso (D., Lawrence), George J. Harter (D., Summit) and William E. Ashbolt (R., Lorain) to the joint legislative-executive commission to study plans for rehabilitation of physically handicapped persons and to recommend remedial legislation.

Meanwhile Governor Davey sent to the senate a reappointment of Charles Leasure of Zanesville to the state unemployment compensation commission for a six-year term beginning Dec. 28, 1938, when his present term expires.

Previously the governor's office had announced Leasure's reappointment but it was withdrawn without comment when newsmen called attention to the fact that his present term did not expire for nearly a year.

Confirms Dargusch
The senate confirmed the appointment of Carlton Dargusch of Columbus, a Republican, to Ohio State university's board of trustees for a seven-year term, beginning next May 14.

Senator James M. Mathews (D., Clark) argued against the appointment, saying that Lawrence E. Laybourne of Springfield, displaced by Dargusch, should have been retained because of his long service on the board.

A tentative draft of a $1,100,887 supplemental appropriation bill was completed by the senate sub-committee and taken up by the full committee. The measure provided no money for the welfare department or for Ohio colleges. Committee members said the colleges probably would be taken care of in a separate bill.
